

Bentley Systems Welcomes Cate Lohead as Chief Marketing Officer

Brings marketing leadership in AI innovation and enterprise software

EXTON, Pa., October 8, 2025 – Bentley Systems, Incorporated (Nasdaq: BSY), the infrastructure engineering software company, today announced the appointment of Cate Lohead as Chief Marketing Officer. She brings marketing leadership in AI innovation and more than 20 years of experience in enterprise software to Bentley.

Most recently, Lohead served as Chief Marketing Officer for high-growth software companies in AI, data, and security. Previously, she led marketing organizations at global technology leaders, including Oracle and Intuit. She has deep expertise in positioning transformative technologies for market visibility and adoption.

Nicholas Cumins, Bentley CEO, said, "AI is transforming how infrastructure is designed, built, and operated. Appointing Cate as CMO strengthens our leadership at this pivotal moment; her experience will help infrastructure professionals connect AI innovation to measurable outcomes—where efficiency, quality, and reliability matter most."
